Magic Items Source Starfinder Core Rulebook pg. 222 While plenty of technology in Starfinder incorporates magical elements, some items operate solely through eldritch principles and thus follow different rules. This section covers magic items not addressed under another rules system (such as weapon fusions or augmentations).

A temple garment, also referred to as garments, the garment of the holy priesthood, or Mormon underwear, is a type of underwear worn by adherents of the Latter Day Saint movement after they have taken part in the endowment ceremony. Garments are required for any adult who previously participated in the endowment ceremony to enter a temple. The undergarments are viewed as …

Advanced, ubiquitous magic always seems to end up working just like technology. The car engine might be powered by a fire elemental, and the telephone may work through the principle of contagion, but this doesn't affect the man on the street. They just get in the car and drive away, or pick up the phone and talk — no special talent required, just as if the devices were technological.

Not a fashion icon in the strictest sense, Anna Muthesius (Fig. 11) encouraged women in the early 1900s to dress individually, encouraging the aesthetic dress of the period. In 1903, she published Das Eigenkleid der Frau (Women's Own Dress) which urged readers to eschew Paris fashions (Hennessey 236). What this looked like varied, but themes of practicality, freedom of …

Textile manufacturing is a major industry. It is largely based on the conversion of fibre into yarn, then yarn into fabric. These are then dyed or printed, fabricated into cloth which is then converted into useful goods such as clothing, household items, upholstery and various industrial products. Overall, many things can be made with cotton, not just clothing.
